Dear Parents / Guardian,

Fathers@School Workshop: Entering the world of your child

Synopsis:

If parents do not make an effort trying to enter the child's world with love and compassion and be able to relate to them, parent-child relationship will be affected. It goes without saying that understanding between parents and children has always been hard to reach, typically when there is a generation gap. The gap has caused parents and children over common arguments on tastes, styles, principles and priorities etc.

By entering the world of your child, parents are helping to open a world of opportunity for the child to make sense of life, along with enhanced parent-child relationship.

Join us for a session for fathers to understand their child better so that they are able to empower and guide them at their different developmental stages.

Program includes:

Children Activities	Father-Child Activities
1) People Bingo 2) Word List 3) Mini Amazing Race – 3 Stations Station 1 : My Thumb Print Station 2 : Count The Fishes Station 3 : Fix the Puzzles	1) Shake-It-Out 2) Balancing Act Relay 3) Know My School
